DISCUSSION

This rule is being amended to remove outdated language referencing the Arkansas Comprehensive Testing, Assessment, and Accountability Program Act which was repealed by Act 930 of 2017. The rule language is also being amended to remove some of the barriers to professional development by including a process by which educators can earn professional development through a microcredential or a specific course instead of only being able to earn professional development through hours of orientation. The rule amendment also removes some of the unnecessary structure for professional development, allowing district to be more flexible and innovative in providing professional development, and educators to be more flexible in meeting requirements. Finally, the rule amendment adds language to comply with laws requiring professional in several key subject areas, including bullying prevention, and human trafficking prevention, mental health awareness, and family and community engagement.

Post-public comment, several substantive and non-substantive changes were made. Substantive changes include: amending the rule to allow for education service cooperatives to provide professional development to their own staff; to allow for a district or open-enrollment charter that is under Level 5 - intensive support to be required to undertake specific professional development, and to correct legal citations.
